DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the subparts must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: "the subparts" in claims 3, 4, 9, and 10.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1, 11, 18, 24, 29, 39, 45, and 51, are indefinite because of the term "a workpiece may follow".

A method claim should consist of steps, which describe a logical, sequential series of operations.

Since the term "may" is used, this recites a condition. Since a condition is recited, then the sequence of operations must be provided for the entire situation when the condition exists, and when the condition does not exist.

Thus, the claim is not complete.

Although the specification provides a dictionary for the claims, and the claims may be broader than the specification; each claim must be complete and self consistent in itself.

For a method claim, the recitation must describe a sequential operation where each step further limits the previous step. In addition, even though the method claim is procedural, each step must be supported with sufficient physical means for accomplishing the step.

Claims 2-10, 12-17, 19-23, 25-28, 30-38, 40-44, 46-50 and 52-60 are included in this rejection because of their dependency.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-60 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Fukasawa (US 5,805,472 cited art by the applicant, 11/22/04).

Fukasawa discloses a method for detecting conditions in an electronic device fabrication facility (figure 6), as stated below in the ABSTRACT of Fukasawa.

ABSTRACT:

In a test handler for semiconductor devices according to the invention, test trays are provided with respective identification codes specific to them and the identification codes of the test trays are read by a reading device arranged respectively at given control sites in the test handler and stored in a control table and controlled by a control device along with data on the control sites for reading the identification codes of test trays and the product ICs loaded on the test trays carrying the detected identification codes. Additionally, the contents of the control table are displayed on a monitor screen and the data on the individual test trays obtained at the individual control sites and those on the product ICs are centrally controlled.

Because the claimed method is very vague (may follow), It would have been obvious to use the method of Fukasawa to increasing manufacturing efficiency and reducing downtime.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wilson et al., Nakamura et al., and Klug et al. disclose related art.
